

A Song, Set by M^r. Elford, and exactly engrav'd by Tho: Cross.

*Brightest Nymph and fairest Creature, let me take a parting kiss: You that are so good by Nature, why should you deny me this: You have often bid me welcome, to the Bliss you now deny me; be not angry f . I take it.
why should you with Sco-----rn thus fl---y me;
why should you with Sco-----rn thus fly me*

For the Flute.
